Drawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the location of the carbonator must be shown between the circulation pump and the heat transfer coil for claim 8 or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance. The numeral 108 in Fig. 7 is not heat transfer coils. It is a cold plate. It does not necessary that the cold plate always provided with heat transfer coils.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 11 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Vogel (4,781,309). Vogel discloses a carbonated beverage dispenser comprising a closed carbonated water circulation circuit with carbonated water distribution manifold 20T, supply and return line 30T2, carbonated water cooling coils 30CP in fluid communication with the carbonated water circulation circuit, a ice/cold plate 110, ice bin 112, circulating water cools to 32 degrees F which is below 33 degrees F. See Fig. 7, 8 and 9 and column 4, line 15.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Vogel in view of Chang (5,839,291). Vogel discloses the invention substantially as claimed as stated above. However, Vogel does not disclose a pump. Chang teaches the use of a circulating pump 172 in a beverage dispensing system for the purpose of dispensing drinks. See Fig. 1. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the beverage dispenser of Vogel in view of Chang such that a circulation pump could be provided in order to circulate carbonated water. Regarding bar gun, any dispensing valve of a beverage dispenser can be termed as bar gun. As for example see reference 6,021,922 to Bilskie et al. For claim 2 the carbonator 141 of Chang obviously located in between the heat transfer coil 168 and circulating pump 172 during re-circulation stage (See Fig. 1).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 08/27/04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The Applicant argued, "Bilskie et al. does not include circulation circuit and has no pump capable of inducing circulation." The Examiner disagrees. Examiner believes that a circulation circuit can be an open circulation circuit or closed circulation circuit or a circuit with closed loop. For example column 1, lines 29-39 of US Patent No. 5246422 to Favre may kindly be seen. However, for clear understanding, The Examiner has reviewed the case and Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-12 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection as explained above.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Mohammad Ali whose telephone number is 703-308-5032. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday to Friday.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Esquivel Denise can be reached on 703-308-2597. The fax phone number for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned is 703-872-9306.
